SEWING MACHINES.

GROVER & BAKER'S
CELEBRATED
Premium Sewing Machines

WHY THE GROVER & BAKER MACHINE is the best

1. It is more simple, durable, and less liable to derangement than others.

2. It sews from ordinary spools, and no rewinding of thread is necessary.

3. It sews with equal facility all fabrics, the most delicate and the heaviest, and with all kinds of thread, silk, cotton or linen.

4. Its seam is so strong and elastic that it never breaks, even on the bias.

5. It fastens both ends of the seam by its own operation.

6. Its seam, though out at every sixth stitch, remains firm and neither runs or ravels in wear.

7. Its seam is more plump and beautiful, and requires less tension and is more easily regulated, than any other.

8. Its seam can be removed in altering garments without injuring the fabric, without picking or cutting them.

9. Watching and varying the tensions upon the thread necessary in other machines is unnecessary in this. The tension being once adjusted on the GROVER & BAKER, it cannot get out of order, nor may be done without change.

10. It makes beautiful embroidery without change of arrangement simply by inserting threads of suitable size and colors for the purpose. It is the only machine that both embroiders and sews perfectly.

FOR CLERK OF COURT OF APPEALS.

R. R. BOLLING,
OF FRANKLIN COUNTY

Decision Upon the Proposition to Call a Convention of the Caucus of the Conservative Democratic Members of the Legislature, Held in Frankfort February 6th, 1866.

[For the Louisville Democrat.]

At a meeting of the Conservative Democratic members of the Legislature, held at the hall of the House of Representatives, on the 6th of February, 1866, on motion of W. R. Bradley, Esq., Representative from Hickman and Fulton, it was

Resolved, THAT IN OUR JUDGMENT THERE IS NOW NO NECESSITY FOR A CALL OF A CONVENTION OF THE PARTY, AND WE WOULD RESPECTFULLY URGE THE PARTY NOT TO CALL A CONVENTION, WHEN NO NECESSITY EXISTS FOR THE SAME.

J. B. BRUNER, Chairman.

D. ROWE,
JAS. A. DAWSON, } Secretaries.

The above expresses the opinion of the Conservative members of the Legislature, by whom the matter was discussed fully, and to whom interested and other parties presented every reason to induce them to recommend a call. We hold that the judgment of this caucus is correct; that any effort to call a convention will tend to disintegrate and break up the party.

The vote in the caucus stood upon the motion of Mr. Bradley, fifty-six against a convention and nineteen for it.

☞ We hope the Courier and other organs of the patch-work Democracy will settle how matters stand in this State. They assured the public that the 30th of May meeting was a Radical affair, and did what they could to fire the heart of the patch-work with that idea. Suddenly the Radical organs come out with a candidate of their own, and immediately the Courier faces about, falls in at once with the pretensions of the Radical organs, who repudiate the meeting of the 30th as none of theirs.

Now, we should like the organ-grinders of the patch-work to settle how it is. It is convenient, perhaps, to have the story one way to-day and another to-morrow, and it may suit the "so-called" to believe the opposite stories alternately or both at once. It is the "lively" way of doing, and suits the patch-work style; but still, as an accommodation to the rest of mankind, we should like to know if the 30th of May was a Radical meeting, or whether they are particularly hated by the Radicals.

We are aware that the patch-work Democracy can believe both these stories, and do it easy; but outside of the State, seeing first one statement and then the other in the same organs, will men comprehend how it is? Let us have explained how many days in the week, and what days one story is to be believed, and how many days and what days the other, or it both stories are to be believed by the patch-work at the same time.

☞ Men of sense now see that the call for a gathering of restless politicians on the 1st of May, ostensibly to nominate a Clerk of the Court of Appeals, but really to get up a political organization to enhance the importance of a large section of played-out politicians, was a miserable blunder, that no such meeting ought to have been held. It has served to get up divisions in this State which would not have existed but for the interest of political aspirants. They had been laid away for several years. They had no chance to make their stock of political wisdom available; and as soon as the opportunity offered, they ran together, to shout and "clovivate"—to solemnly declare that they would unequivocally express something. So they have made a general muss.

They have passed nineteen resolutions, carefully omitting the main point, and their orators are spouting about over the State calling themselves the Democracy, misrepresenting and slandering other people, trying to pass themselves off as the opponents of Radicals.

It is nothing but the work of reckless politicians, who got this all up, not to benefit the State or country, but themselves; its evils were easily foreseen and foretold; but what could these politicians do? They would die if they couldn't cut a figure somehow; pass nineteen resolutions, and assure the world that they are the people to fight Radicalism. Yes, they are the people. They have been at it, and they have played the —at it. The Radicals want just such opponents as they are.

☞ It is a little singular that Southern soldiers and sympathizers should at last come to Kentucky to get up a party against Radicals—the only slave State, except little Delaware, that refused to join the rebellion. The States they fought for and sympathized with and applauded against Kentucky, have all turned Radicals. They have abolished slavery and adopted the Constitutional amendment. Their friends and sympathizers come here and set themselves up to engineer against Radicals. They have been engineering for the States South, and by their efforts made them all Radicals. If they have the same success here, they will convert this State to the Radical faith.

They are the most comical set of politicians we have ever known. They have infinite skill in bringing about what they oppose, and inventing how not to do what they undertake.

☞ The Courier thinks we were especially loyal when selling stores in Nashville. On the same principle, we suppose, the publisher of the Courier was a more arrant rebel than ever, when he was agent for the sale of strychnine whisky, blue-ruin, pine-top and pepper juice in the Confederacy. The rebel boys say a drink of this liquor was crooked as a rail fence, and swallowed like a brier-bush. How about that, Mr. Courier-man?

☞ The Tribune says that not twenty of the papers that supported Lincoln and Johnson are now supporting Johnson. That is hard on them—only twenty Union papers out of all those claiming to have been Union two years ago. We suppose the others opposing the President would resent the name of Copperheads; but, from the quantity of brass exhibited, we think they had a good deal of that metal about their upper works.

☞ It having been decided that bank stocks are taxable, some of the national banks are trying to have their stocks exempted. We would like to know what ground they can base their claims on. As the object of taxation is to draw a revenue from the profits, and as these make very handsome profits, we think they should stand their fair share.

☞ The general opinion is that a European war is inevitable, and that the proposed Congress can only end in a row.

☞ They are finding very large fortunes of silver and gold at Vermillion, Minnesota, by the last accounts, and copper is as common there as in a brass kettle.

☞ The Richmond (Ky.) Register has hoisted the name of R. R. Bolling for Clerk of the Court of Appeals.

☞ The Courrier des Etats-Unis says the Spanish war with the South American States is over for the season.

☞ The Maysville (Ky.) Eagle (Conservative), edited by Thos. M. Green, Esq., has declared for Bolling.

DEATH OF PRINCE ESTERHAZY.—The last European advices inform us of the death of Prince Paul Anthony Esterhazy, at Ratisbon. He was a son of Nicholas, distinguished as a diplomatist, to whom Napoleon is said to have offered the Hungarian crown in 1809. Prince Anthony was born in 1786, and was the Austrian Ambassador at several European courts, including that of London. He occupied a seat in the Hungarian ministry, under Count Batthyanyi, in 1848, but retired when it was found that Hungary could not be independent without a war with Austria. He represented the oldest branch of his family, and was the greatest landowner and one of the wealthiest men of Austria. His property included hundreds of towns, villages, estates, manors and chateaus in Hungary, besides possessions in Baden, Bavaria and Lower Austria. He had a splendid palace at Eisenstadt, near Oldenburg, filled with every tropical plant, and with conservatories rivaling those of Paris. Besides this, he had palaces at Esterhaz, in Lower Hungary, and at Vienna. His son Nicholas, born in 1817, and married to a daughter of the Earl of Jersey, is his heir.

☞ People throughout the country should remember that it is a violation of the game laws to rob the nests of prairie chickens, as we are informed many are doing. The penalty is five dollars and costs for each offense.

THE NEW FIVE-CENT PIECE.—The cost of coining the new five-cent piece will be about twenty per cent. of its full value, while the paper note of the same denomination costs to print about one-fiftieth of its full value.

☞ Senor Romero, the Mexican Minister at Washington, denies the report, published recently, that Juarez has agreed to surrender the reins of government to Santa Anna.

☞ Mr. Henry Cleveland, former editor of the Augusta (Ga.) Constitutionalist, is preparing a volume comprising the life, letters and speeches of Hon. Alex. H. Stephens.

New Books.

We have received from the firm of Morton & Griswold a hand volume entitled "PULPIT PENDENCIES," being a series of epigrammatic sentences with a sharp flavor to them upon hypocrisies and shams in religion. They appear to be selected from the sermons and lectures of some eminent divine. As a specimen we give the following:

"You will find that the Christians of each particular church are so like each other that a discerning mind, on seeing a Christian, can tell what church he belongs to."

"The church has come to be popular, and getting into the church is not getting into God's dignity, by any means."

"You will never need for a corrupt minister; there is no church for hell as well as for the exnelent."

"I know innocent men who do not hesitate to take the name of God in vain. They do not say 'damn it,' but they do not hesitate to say 'Oh, Lord!' which is no better."

These show the spice. The book is printed by Carleton, New York, and for sale by Morton & Griswold, Louisville.

From the same enterprising firm we have

THE MUTE SINGER—A new novel, from the charming authoress Mrs. Anna Cora Ritchie (Mowatt.) It is handsomely printed and bound, in a manner appropriate to the style. This work is said to be highly imaginative, and full of those peculiar graces, ornaments and tenderness of style in which the authoress excels. Carleton, New York, publisher. For sale by Morton & Griswold.

EDGAR MARSTON, or Happy Hearts make Happy Homes," a pleasant little domestic story by an unknown authoress, is calculated to find friends among the readers of light literature. The simplicity of the story is easily and naturally preserved, with occasional slips into poetility, such as inevitably belong to that peculiar style of writing and incident. It runs occasionally into erudities on the different churches, but these will rather amuse and entertain, if not interest, than offend. It is from the Carletons, handsomely got up, in good style. It is for sale at the house of Morton & Griswold.

ROLLING STOCK GOING DOWN.—The Danville Advocate, which has up to the present week carried the name of R. R. Bolling on its editorial head, has taken it down, for the reason, as it says, that the canvass having assumed a political aspect, it is unwilling to discriminate between Democratic candidates.—Louisville Courier.

Oh, yes: and underneath we give you another interesting item of news of

ROLLING STOCK GOING UP.

The last number of the Richmond (Ky.) Register, June 7th inst., has run up the name of R. R. BOLLING at its mast-head. It says the office of Clerk of the Court of Appeals is a very responsible one, and ought to be filled by a competent man, without regard to party considerations. It has wisely put up the name of Bolling. He has proved himself most competent, faithful and accommodating. The people outside of secession influence have a common interest in his election.

Again:

ROLLING STOCK GOING UP.

The last number of the Maysville Eagle comes to us with the name of Bolling as its candidate. The editor says of the convention and its action:

The resolutions are unobjectionable to us. No fault will be found with them by any true Union man. The convention did not make a nomination, but recommended Mr. Bolling to the people. Mr. Bolling has for eight years been the Deputy Clerk of the office, during all of which time he has really transacted the business of the office in full charge. His duties, while others received the principal emoluments of his labors. All agree that he has made a most excellent officer, and deserves to have the place.

Politically, Mr. Bolling was a Democrat, and has been one all his life. When the secessionists broke up the Democratic party, in order to defeat Mr. Lincoln, and thus give a pretext for their movement, he adhered to the National Democratic party, and voted for Stephen A. Douglas for President. Now he runs as the Douglas Democratic candidate for Clerk of the Court of Appeals, and was defeated—though he also helped to defeat Clinton McClarty, the candidate of the Republicans. Since all this is over, Mr. Bolling has been a consistent Union man.

The convention met, consumed, and adjourned, and its action is such as we can approve, and its recommendation of Bolling a man whom we thought it best to present as the candidate in opposition to the 1st of May convention, and, therefore, we support him. Of course the fact that some gentlemen with whom we have heretofore not been able to agree are also supporting him is no reason why we should do so. We do not like the company of all who have differed with us at different times he will be elected by a tremendous majority, and we will be heartily rejoiced at it.

☞ The editor of the Courier and his correspondents are chiefly occupied in assuring their readers that the Union men will vote for Bolling, and then that they will not vote for him. Perhaps that both these stories will not turn out to be true.

☞ The stock of Yankee girls sent out to Washington Territory don't go off as fast as was expected. The agent is now requested to take a supply of males out to marry them.

☞ They are finding very large fortunes of silver and gold at Vermillion, Minnesota, by the last accounts, and copper is as common there as in a brass kettle.

☞ The Richmond (Ky.) Register has hoisted the name of R. R. Bolling for Clerk of the Court of Appeals.

☞ The Courrier des Etats-Unis says the Spanish war with the South American States is over for the season.

☞ The following, from a distinguished poet—a tilt at tilters—will be read with interest:

[For the Louisville Sunday Democrat.]

A Tilt at Tilters.

"When lovely woman stoops to folly."
Goldsmith.

I.

When lovely woman gets a tilter,
And thrills not late what it betrays,
What can the poor thing do but wilt, or
Rush or swoon from all human gaze.

II.

The naughty nothing cruel heroine—
The hit, the miss, the sweet, the sway
That can arouse whatever it pleases
Whatever air shame, or the array?

III.

The only act her shame to cover,
To hide her conscious sense of guilt,
A heart-felt, fitful swoon.
And soon again be charge that tilt.

NEW YORK, June 6, 1866.

VIVE LA (IRISH) REPUBLIQUE!

The highways and by-ways of the great city are swarming with big, stalwart, healthy-looking fellow citizens "a wearin o' the green," some of them discussing the situation on the border, and all of them expressing a desire to have another "slice" at John Bull, junior, before the excitement subsides. It is not at all probable, however, that they will be gratified in this respect if the U. S. District Attorneys, under instructions from Washington, do what is expected of them.

The "government" has scarcely done its duty intelligently in this business, as everybody begins to see. In the first place, if it was really desirous of playing policeman or constable for the Queen, Mr. Seward might have addressed a private note to "President" Roberts, or General Sweeney, and informed them that no raid would be permitted. In that event it is certain no raid would have taken place, and a good many Irish lives would have been saved. But in this, as in most everything else, the demagogue of Auburn preferred to play a double part. He was willing to use the Fenians to annoy the Canadians just enough to retaliate upon England for the St. Albans (Confederate raid; but the moment there was any likelihood of the Fenians becoming masters of the situation, lo! bulletins are issued from Washington communicating the arrest of the leaders, at the same time that the Seward organs are abusing the Hibernians for their scandalous disregard of the neutrality laws, etc., etc. Mr. Seward said years and years ago he was ready to "swap off the Irish for the negroes;" and his action to-day certainly shows that the latter have risen but little since in his esteem.

SEWARD MUST SHOW HIS HAND.

The time is at hand, however, when the Secretary must show his hand, or own the muck. Nobody doubts here but that, as soon as the invasion news reaches the other side, the British Lion will have his back up, the Legitimists embark in order the spur of popular indignation meetings in Exeter Hall, and other places, will be forced to demand explanations. But Mr. Seward can't be bullied in any such manner; but if it be with the customary apology or salaam, a feeling will be created against him here which will compel President Johnson to ask for the resignation of his swaddling clothes. Never having been tails to nigger-worshipping Kiss, the Independent ignores them, as if to place in the foreground some intelligent organ of public opinion. She will also write the public opinion. She will also write the public opinion. She will also write the Kentucky Conference African M. E. Zion Church—Fourth Day.

Conference assembled at 9 o'clock. Bishop Talbot in the chair. Religious exercises conducted by Rev. Dr. Linn, of the M. E. Church, South.

The first part of the morning was devoted to the reports of committees. Rev. Dr. Linn, Rev. Dr. Anderson, and the Rev. Mr. Cunningham, of the Christian Church, Rev. Dr. Parsons, of the Church South, and the Rev. Mr. Watterson, of Indiana, and the Rev. Mr. Heywood, of this city, were severally introduced to the conference. The Louisville Sabbath-School reported the increase in attendance to be far in advance of any previous year. On motion to adopt the report the Rev. J. W. Logsden asked the privilege of allowing the visiting brethren to take part in the discussion, which was granted.

After several interesting addresses from the visiting brethren, the following resolutions, offered by the Rev. W. F. Bodine were passed unanimously:

Resolved, That we are highly pleased with the order and [illegible] which characterized the proceedings of the Louisville Sabbath-School Convention, held in this city on the 7th inst.

Resolved, That we fully endorse the action of said Convention in appointing a delegate to the approaching National Convention, to be held in the city of Philadelphia, on the 4th of July next.

Resolved, That we recommend the Louisville Sabbath-School Convention to the favorable consideration of the Sabbath-School Conventions throughout the State, and that the same be published in the city papers.

A vote of thanks was tendered Rev. Dr. Parsons, Rev. Mr. Watterson, Rev. Mr. Heywood, and General Ely, for their encouraging remarks.

Adjourned to meet Monday morning.

MRS. F. M. BARCLAY.—Yesterday evening this lady closed her series of lectures to the ladies of Louisville, entitling "Female Health," and "The Rearing of Children."

It is seldom that the ladies have an opportunity of hearing things, which not only vitally interest them, but their husbands, fathers and brothers, presented in such an attractive and comprehensive style. We have, indeed, male lecturers on physiology, and they usually deliver one lecture of the course particularly to ladies, but there is always a reserve between the sexes which precludes that familiarity of treatment which the subject and the interests of humanity demand.

Mrs. Barclay has devoted years to the study of her theme, and in herself presents a splendid specimen of the results of her method of treatment. She knows her sex thoroughly, and can tell her her faults and virtues and her needs and capabilities in a style so pleasant and familiar as at once to win the hearts of her hearers, and empanel for instructions. Our ladies have derived invaluable benefit from her lectures, the influence of which will not soon be lost to generation; and the thanks of sisterhood friends she has made during her visit here hope that she will regularly and often here hope that she will regularly and often make a similar respect.

SHAMEFUL CONDUCT.—We learn that on Friday a little child, whose parents reside in the lower part of the city, died. A coffin was procured and the corpse was laid away in it, soon to be borne to its tenement of clay and "keep house" as God knows no waking." Instead of the mother and father lingering with fearful of sorrow and tearful eyes about their "loved and lost one," they began a dispute as to when and where the little sleeper should be buried. Insisting that it should be near and dear to them, their passions arose, and a fight over the corpse ensued, during which the coffin was upset and the corpse rolled out upon the floor to be trampled upon by the shameful and unnatural parents, who, they fought around its cold, [illegible] shame, where is thy blush?

PEWEE VALLEY FESTIVAL.—On next Wednesday, the ladies of Christ Church Aid Society, assisted by the ladies of Pewee Valley, will give a festival in Pewee Valley, on the Louisville and Lexington railroad, for the benefit of St. James Parish. Extensive preparations are being made by the kind hearted and energetic ladies to make it one of the most pleasant occasions of the kind ever gotten up in the State. A special train of cars will leave the Frankfort depot at 9 A. M., on that day, and those who have tickets and who may miss the special train, can use their tickets on any of the regular trains going and coming. We hope the attendance will be large, and trust the ladies will have their efforts crowned by complete success.

TWELFTH-STREET METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH—RELIGIOUS SERVICES TO-DAY.—The repairs which have been going forward on this church for several weeks, are now so far completed as to admit of religious services being held in the main building, which will take place to-day at 10½ o'clock A. M., and at the usual hour in the evening. The Rev. Geo. A. Chase will conduct the morning services, when it is expected that some thirty members of the church will be received into full connection. The Rev. Mr. Henderson, preacher in charge, will preach in the evening.

HORTICULTURAL EXHIBITION.—The attendance at the horticultural exhibition at Masonic Temple yesterday, though fair, was not as large as we would have liked to have seen. The display, however, was very fine, that of flowers especially—there being a number of magnificent bouquets exhibited by Nanz and others. The sales were very good, every article bringing fair prices. The society will hold their next regular exhibition next Saturday, and we understand preparations are being made to render it one of the finest of the season.

BILL ARP.—W. Scott Glore, corner Third and Jefferson streets, has sent us Bill Arp's book, written by himself. It is a wonderfully laughable work, full of wit, humor and engravings. He says "I'm a good Union man, 'so-called,' but I'll bet on Dixie as long as I've got a dollar." Go at once and get a copy.

MURDER OF T. E. JUDGE.

AN EXAMINATION OF THE ACCUSED PARTIES COMMENCED.

Examination to be Closed Monday

GREAT INTEREST EXCITED.

Large Array of Legal Talent.

We have already, through the columns of the Democrat, made mention of the murder of Thos. E. Judge, last Saturday night, by Theodore Englebaugh and Fred. Lehman, proprietors of the saloon on Third street, known as the "[illegible]." The examination of the accused parties was commenced yesterday in the Police Court. The case has created considerable excitement, and the court-room was crowded. In the prosecution Mr. W. G. Reasor, the attorney, was assisted by T. W. Gibson and W. L. Bullock; while H. S. Foote, G. A. Caldwell, M. Bour, R. T. Baird and J. H. Price appeared for the defense. We give below the testimony in full as far as it was elicited up to the adjournment of the court:

J. C. Gill sworn. Am Coroner of the county; held an inquest on the body of deceased on Saturday night last, between 10 and 11 o'clock, in a drug store on Market street near Third, in the back room; found a post-mortem wound in left breast, that might enter and had death ensued, immediately after blows Lehman ran out the bar, got a pistol and jumped on the bar. It was at about this time that deceased was extended on a line of 45 degrees on a regular line of the body erect; the ball entered between the first and second rib, and passed through the left lung, and inwardly and downward; the wound had the appearance of having been effected with a rifle ball; the wound was the cause of his death; on one hand noticed a wound which had the appearance of having been made in the hair; deceased was dead when we first saw him.

Cross-examined.—Wound on hand was on the right hand; both wounds were on the same hand; did not notice any contusion on the head, the wound was [illegible] with a similar one to the one examined.

Dr. W. Chapman sworn.—Resided in Buffalo. Was present at the difficulty which caused the death of Judge; was in the house, deceased, Lehman and Wood had been playing a game of billiards at the saloon kept by deceased; after the game was finished, missed Mr. Wood mark on the tablets with a piece of chalk; heard deceased tell Lehman who commenced [illegible] him for marking on the table, saying that it injured it. Did not pay particular attention to the language until Lehman ran around into the bar, and [illegible] was struck; heard [illegible] after Lehman ran around into the bar, after some [illegible] walked out into the saloon; saw Lehman in the act of jumping on the counter with a cue in his right hand and a pistol in his left. The pistol was fired in court looks like; [illegible] weapon; after some wrangling between Lehman, Woods, deceased and others Lehman struck Mr. Herbert on the back with a cue; witness went over to the head of the stairs, followed by others; he went down; as witness left he heard deceased say, "let's [illegible] game and not if your table is injured we have money to pay for it;" at the same time slapping his pocket; stood in front of a saloon on the street; saw deceased coming down the stairs counting down stairs to [illegible] pushed down; recognized deceased, when he came out on entrance on the side walk. As he jumped to his feet heard first shot fired; deceased then jumped into and adjoining door; heard three shots fired after the first shot, and after firing ceased went back to Market street and saw deceased standing, supported by two or three persons in the hall down the stairs deceased was last; the others got out of the way; deceased had nothing in his hand at the time he fell; would have said a cane if he had it in his hand. The first shot was fired as soon as deceased got to his feet. At the time Lehman got on the counter with pistol and the deceased was in front of the counter did not see a cue in his hand at the time; the shooting occurred about half a minute after deceased offered to pay for the game. As I stepped on the floor was shown to witness that he might show the exact position of the parties.—[Reporter.]

The billiard and bar rooms are on the same floor. In going out of the billiard room you have to come through the bar. The expenses of the game had to be settled in the bar. Could not tell the position of the men who shot.

Cross-examined.—Was in the city on business. Went to the saloon between 9 and 10 o'clock. The party played one game. It was after the game that Wood wrote on the table. Deceased was in front of the bar when he slapped his pocket. Lehman was on the counter at the time. Heard some of the blows. No one fell. Blows sounded like a fist as it in the face. At the time of the blows saw Lehman, Wood and deceased close together, and Herbert on the other side of the table. Immediately after blows Lehman ran into the bar, got a pistol and jumped on the bar. It was at about this time that deceased was extended on a line of 45 degrees on a regular line of the body erect; the ball entered between the first and second rib, and passed through the left lung, and inwardly and downward; the wound had the appearance of having been effected with a rifle ball; the wound was the cause of his death; on one hand noticed a wound which had the appearance of having been made in the hair; deceased was dead when we first saw him.

Domestic Relations in Germany—How Matrimonial Matters are Arranged.

From a Returning Exile.

If is permitted under no circumstances, except where the parties are engaged, that a gentleman should accompany a lady to a theater, ball or concert, and should it happen, the lady would be declared infamous, and thrown out of all good society. There are no evening visits made, and, above all, it is forbidden that a young man should call upon his young lady acquaintances; in fact, a gentleman can have no lady friends, as he can never come in contact with them except at balls, where it is under the greatest reserve. Marriage is reduced to a business contract. A young man sees a lady at a ball, takes a fancy to her looks, inquires who her parents are, how much money they have and how much the lady will get at her marriage. If the conditions and him—i. e., if he likes the looks of the animal, and the pertinencies are to his mind, he visits the parents and proposes to marry the daughter. The parents make inquiries respecting his position, and especially respecting the quantity of money he may possess. Should the reports be favorable, they refer to the daughter, tell her the conditions, and, if they suit her, they are declared to be engaged. Cards in the form: Herr Mueller, Fraulein Schmidt, engaged, are immediately sent to the friends. The engagement is also proclaimed in the papers. From this time they stand to one another in the relation of Braut und Bräutigam—bride and bridegroom—but not in our sense of words, as this relation never ripens to close those appellations at marriage. But the gentleman has now the right to woo the lady when he pleases, which he is expected to do every evening. He can accompany her in public, but not alone, or, if he please—in fact, he must now improve his time to fall in love with her. No other man can dance with her or have anything to do with her without his consent.

Should the Bräutigam break off engagement and refuse to marry her, the Braut can sue and obtain damages. If the Braut promises, but the bridegroom does, as the German idea of honor would not allow it. Should the Braut accidentally have a child—a decidents and happen—it is illegitimate, has the name affixed per adoptionem matrimonium. By the marriage the contract is complete, and according to the old German custom, the husband is Herr—lord of the house. The husband is completely under his control, which control is often harsh. She becomes a machine to work and to have children. We have no women's rights women here. They have no voice in public affairs, and, knowing it, are contented with it, and make no noise about it.

Should a man marry one of several sisters, and his wife dies, he will, if possible, marry one of the remaining sisters. I know a man who married through a family of four sisters, one after the other. They think by this course the children of the first wife will be better cared for than if they were to marry a person out of the family.

LIFE.—Life is but death's vestibule; and our pilgrimage on earth is but a journey to the grave. The pulse that progresses our being beats our dead march, and the blood which circulates our life is floating it onward to the depths of death. To-day we see our friends in health, and to-morrow we hear of their decease. We clasped the hand of the strong man but yesterday, and to-day we close his eyes. We rode in a chariot of comfort but an hour ago, and a few more hours the fatal black chariot must convey us to the tomb of all the living. Oh, how closely allied is death to life! The lamb that sported in the field must soon feed the fatal knife. Even that loveth in the pasture is reserved for the slaughter. Trees do but grow that they may be felled. Yes, and grass-things—thus these feel death, they rise and flourish—then wither but to decay, they rise but to fall.

How often do we take up the volume of history and read of the rise and fall of empires! We hear of the triumphs and the death of kings. Death is the black servant who rides behind the chariot of the See life, and death is close behind. Death reecheth far through the land, and hath stamped all terrestrial things with the broad arrow of the mortal. Decide mayhap; it is said that photographs have been seen far off in the ether, and astronomers have discovered in the moon other worlds—the decay of those mighty orbs that we have imagined as forming the sockets of a silver eye—are the images of eternity. But I digress. Death is the only place where death is not life's brother—where life reigns alone; "to live" is not the first syllable which is to be followed by the next, "to die." Taste is a land where the death-birds are not heard, and where winding sheets are never worn, and where graves are never dug. Blest land beyond the skies. To reach it we must die.—Spurgeon.

ADVENTUROUS.—An Eastern paper says:

The ship Red Jacket, which arrived at New Bedford Friday afternoon, made the passage from Honolulu in one hundred days. She commenced leaking when two days out from Honolulu, and the pumps have been kept in constant motion ever since, discharging water at the rate of one hundred thousand gallons per day. A windmill was rigged up by the captain, which rendered the crew valuable aid in working the pumps. Captain James S. Dillingham, of Chelsea, owned a share in her on the voyage, has led an adventurous life for the last few years. In 1861 he brought the ship Nabob, of Boston, into port, after a voyage of several thousand miles, most of the way under temporary rigging. He served a year in the navy, and afterward, while in command of the clipper-ship Snow Squall, was wrecked in the Straits of Sunda. He sailed for some another vessel, which was burnt by the pirate Florida, and he reached Baltimore on a Portuguese brig. He had proved himself so capable, however, that the owners of the new ship Red Jacket placed him in command of her. He took out a cargo to the Sandwich Islands, last summer, and, by good seamanship, has managed to arrive home safely.

ENGLISH PAUPERISM.—The reports of the Poor Law Board for England and Wales, for the month of March, show that 907,201 paupers were supported in these countries at the close of that month, and this is said to be a very gratifying statement, being over five per cent. less than at the end of the corresponding month of 1865, and nearly eight per cents. less than the number for the corresponding month of 1864. This does not represent the whole number of persons supported during the month, but the number who received aid upon the last day of the month, and it shows that only one person out of every twenty-three of the population is regularly supported by the English and Welsh poor rates. A more striking commentary upon the labor systems of those countries cannot be found.

NOVEL MODE OF SMUGGLING ALCOHOL.—A few days since the officers of the customs at Rouse's Point, New York, seized some $2,000 worth of alcohol in casks invoiced pure chloroform—varnish would proved to contain a slight mixture of gum shellac in alcohol, in order to pass it through the custom-house as varnish. If this new dodge could succeed, we should soon have all the alcohol in the British Provinces introduced into the United States as varnish, as importers can save over two dollars per gallon in passing it through the custom-house in the manner. The highest rate of duty on varnish is less than one dollar per gallon, while alcohol pays three. After passing it through the custom-house in this form the gum is easily separated and the alcohol left pure.

THE INCOME TAX.—The Commissioner of Internal Revenue has issued an order correcting certain instructions of a circular concerning assessment of incomes for the year 1866, by which it appears a guardian residing abroad should return the income of his ward in the district where the ward resides; and that all expenses for insurance upon property, and all actual losses in business, may be deducted from the gross income of the business of the year.

The Fenian Position—The British Concentrating—Seizure of Fenian Ammunition—British Volunteers Dying from Fatigue—The U. S. Troops Tainted with Fenianism.

NEW YORK, May 9.

Montreal special says Murphy and Mehan, prisoners at Cornwall, have been removed to the Citadel at Quebec.

A St. Albans special says Colonel Scanlan has arrived there. It was his regiment which defeated the Fenians at Tigeon Hill. He has ordered it to withdraw.

Scott still holds Pigeon Hill. Carpenter, Hotel there was torn down because the proprietors jeered and defied the Fenians.

Col. Livingston, with United States troops, moved out to the border. Six pieces of artillery, for Gen. Spear, passed Lairfield to-day. Three thousand British were reported concentrating at Richefield to intercept Gen. Spear. Ten tons of Fenian ammunition was seized at Burlington by the United States Marshal. Eight British volunteers died from fatigue, on departure from St. Armand.

A Malone special says it is believed that the Fenians there, under command of subordinate officers, will at once proceed to St. Albans to re-enforce Spear.

Heavy reinforcements are being obtained along the border.

General Murphy advised the men to remain in Malone a few days, and he would give them a fight.

It is supposed that Meade will have to proclaim martial law and drive the Fenians from Malone at the point of the bayonet, as soon as he receives re-enforcements.

An Ogdensburg special says:

O'Neill is at Malone, and is emphatic in his declaration of a blow to be struck before Sunday night.

The dispatch says the United States troops are thoroughly tainted with Fenianism, and cannot be relied on to enforce extreme measures.

Washington Specials to the Morning Papers.

NEW YORK, June 8.

The morning papers have the following special telegrams from Washington:

Rev. Mr. Porter, D. D., of South Carolina, has succeeded in obtaining from the necessity of the Treasury the Marine Hospital in that State for the purpose of holding a freedmen's school. He was sent here by the general board of Missions.

The vacancy of the civil rights bill has again been called into motion by Justice Watkins, of Rock Hock, Md., in the case of a charge of rape made by a white woman in Dorchester county, Md., against a white man. The jurors decided that the evidence of a white witness was necessary before he could take cognizance of the case. He sentence Edward Richland to the War Department, and by it referred to the proper authorities for investigation.

It is said that a majority of the Cabinet are in favor of Jeff. Davis being paroled, until it was so far arranged that the amount was fixed as to the required security, which was two hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

It appears that it will take nearly three millions of dollars to carry out the treasury notes which have recently been made with the Indians.

The Fry-Conkling committee are taking quite a voluminous testimony, which is said to be damaging both to General Grant and the business management of his bureau.

It is understood that Judge Poland will report favorably on the Jeneks bankrupt bill, from the Judiciary Committee, next week, but there is very little hope of its passage this session, as it will provoke more discussion than the Senate can devote to it prior to the summer adjournment.

NEW YORK, June 8.

A portion of Gen. Spears' Fenian cavalry made a dash into Frelighsburg yesterday, routed a British force and captured a large British flag. Gen. Spears immediately commenced intrenching.

Col. Scanlon, with his regiment, engaged a body of British horse at Pigeon Hill yesterday. The British were driven off with a loss of seven killed, including their commander, and a number wounded. The Feniuns had three wounded. Col. Scanlon then ordered his regiment to withdraw, and they are now at St. Albans.

Gen. Sweeny was released on bail in $20,000 and Col. Mehan in $5,000.

A Fenian council of war at Buffalo decided that it was best to order all the troops back to their homes, without arms and without money, they think it a useless waste of life to enter Canada.

NEW YORK, June 9.

The report of the majority of the Reconstruction Committee, laid before Congress yesterday, declares that the lately rebellious States can only be restored to their political rights by the consent of Congress; that the governors appointed by the President had no power to organize civil courts, and that no Constitution has been legally adopted in any of those states, except Tennessee. The report further presents that Tennessee has become one of the States at all qualified for representation in Congress. The minority, who dissent from the conclusions of the committee, are Senator Beverly Johnson and Representatives Henry Grider and Andrew J. Rogers.

A Prescott (Arizona) letter states that several public meetings have been held in that place to consider matters before Congress. A strong protest is made against the Pomeroy bill, which proposes to exercise the gift of public lands for the improvement of navigation of the Colorado river, and for the building of roads therefrom to Salt Lake and Prescott. Resolutions were adopted opposing the absorption by Nevada of all territory west of the Colorado.

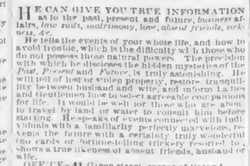
McCORMICK'S

HARVESTING MACHINES.



Self-Raking Reapers and Mowers,

COMBINED AND SEPARATE.

TWO WHEELED MOWER,

Warranted superior to any in the market.

THE McCORMICK SELF-RAKER IS SUPERseding all other self-rakers in the United States, and takes one more modern droppers, which are only a poor apology for Self-rakers. It is the only reliable machine now manufactured in the United States that can cut and rake the heaviest crops without a man on the machine. It has been in use for the last three seasons prolific, and this fall is increased even more than ever before, giving all that could be desired. There are 1,250 of the leading farmers of Jefferson and Lake counties, Illinois, who have used it for the last three years, and whose testimonials are before us, over all other harvesting machines. The simplicity in the machine for less, to adapt it to working as successfully on steep hill side land as upon the most level prairie land. The grand Position of the Machine and Reaper, which distinguishes it above all others, is the ease by which the inclination of the sickle and guard can be tilted in an instant by the hand, to the roughest land, by which the cutting knife is kept from dirt and with passover an entire front, and not to cut too close or too high, rubbish is not perceptibly higher than it will be cut by the ground. These well-proved and Hayed machines for sale at the office of No. 99 West Main street, bet. Second and Third, also a full supply on hand of repair parts for all years' sales. Orders from 1861 up to date are kept on hand by the Louisville agent, Reaper and Mower Agency, for the States of Kentucky and Tenn.
